Studying Global Pentecostalism

Theories and Methods

Edited by ALLAN ANDERSON, MICHAEL BERGUNDER, ANDRÉ DROOGERS, and CORNELIS VAN DER LAAN

“This important volume provides an unmatched perspective on the study of global Pentecostalism. This work will be cited extensively as a point of reference for what one means by ‘global Pentecostalism.’”—Kevin O’Neill, author of City of God

“Some might say that scholars of Pentecostalism are spoiled for choice when it comes to surveys and overviews of the field. But in its range and scope, Studying Global Pentecostalism stands apart. I don’t know of any other volume that helps bridge the gap between theology and the social sciences so effectively.”

—Matthew Engelke, author of A Problem of Presence

With its remarkable ability to adapt to many different cultures, Pentecostalism has become the world’s fastest growing religious movement. More than five hundred million adherents worldwide have reshaped Christianity itself. Yet some fundamental questions in the study of global Pentecostalism, and even in what we call “Pentecostalism,” remain largely unaddressed. Bringing together leading scholars in the social sciences, history, and theology, this unique volume explores these questions for this rapidly growing, multidisciplinary field of study. A valuable resource for anyone studying new forms of Christianity, it offers insights and guidance on both theoretical and methodological issues.

The first section of the book examines such topics as definitions, essentialism, postcolonialism, gender, conversion, and globalization. The second section features contributions from those working in psychology, anthropology, sociology, and history. The third section traces the boundaries of theology from the perspectives of pneumatology, ecumenical studies, inter-religious relations, and empirical theology.

Allan Anderson is Professor of Global Pentecostal Studies at the University of Birmingham in the United Kingdom. Michael Bergunder is Professor of History of Religions and Mission Studies at the University of Heidelberg. André Droogers is Professor Emeritus of Cultural Anthropology at the VU University Amsterdam. Cornelis van der Laan is Professor of Pentecostal Studies in the Faculty of Theology at VU University Amsterdam.
